

US jets blast bridges

By BERT OKULEY
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force jets knocked out six bridges around North Vietnam's southernmost port city and turned a big storage area near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) into an inferno of exploding supplies and ammunition, military spokesmen said today.

The U.S. command reported that American warplanes pounded the north with 390 strike sorties in the two-day period ending at 5 p.m. Wednesday despite heavy anti-aircraft fire. They hit road and rail traffic, warehouses, trucks, tanks and artillery and missile sites. A sortie is one mission by one plane.

A Navy A7 Corsair from the carrier USS Constellation was shot down Wednesday about 100 miles above the DMZ but the pilot parachuted over the Tonkin Gulf and was rescued by an air force HH-53 "Jolly Green Giant" helicopter as U.S. planes strafed Communist surface vessels trying to capture him.

Military spokesmen reported that South Vietnamese troops Wednesday battled an estimated 500 Communist soldiers only 40 miles east of Saigon in Phuoc Tuy province and killed 97. It was the first time in nearly four years a full battalion of Communists had been spotted in Phuoc Tuy.

The South Vietnamese suffered six dead and 13 wounded in the fighting within sight of Nui Dat base, which was occupied by Australian forces until they were withdrawn from Vietnam last year.

Military sources said the pullout of the Australians left the province wide open to infiltration by the Communists. The province's biggest city, Vung Tau, 20 miles south of Duc Thanh, is used as a vacation center by U.S. troops and Vietnamese civilians.

Military officials said heavy infiltration into the province signaled a new threat to Saigon from its almost ungaurded southeastern approaches.

Military spokesmen said South Vietnamese forces have suffered more than 25,000 casualties since the Communist offensive began March 30, while claiming that nearly 30,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been killed in the fighting.

Official figures as of Saturday showed 4,922 South Vietnamese killed, 15,339 wounded and another 2,432 missing in action, for a total of 22,693. Spokesmen said casualties suffered so far this week have pushed that toll past 25,000.

In other developments:

—New York Times correspondent Anthony Lewis, reporting from the North Vietnamese port city of Haiphong, said the Communists claim "they are clearing American mines from the Haiphong harbor as planes drop them, and moving ships in and out."

Russia to be 'realistic'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet leaders will be realistic and businesslike in their forthcoming talks with President Nixon, the official Tass news agency said today.

Nixon is scheduled to arrive Monday for an eight-day official visit in the Soviet Union. A Tass commentary on Soviet efforts to ease world tensions cited Soviet-American relations and said:

"The forthcoming Soviet-American talks are approached in the Soviet Union from a businesslike, realistic position."

"There is no need to emphasize the significance of the state of Soviet-American relations, both for the peoples of the two countries and for the international situation as a whole, for its further development either in the direction of lasting peace or growing tension."

Army fails tests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congressional investigators who inspected four Army divisions report that three of them were suffering major deficiencies due to malfunctioning equipment that severely restricted their combat readiness.

The four divisions inspected were the First and Second Armored, both at Ft. Hood, Okla., at the time of the inspection one year ago, the Fourth Infantry, Ft. Carson, Colo., and the 82nd Airborne, Ft. Bragg, N.C.

The General Accounting Office, which made the report, said only the airborne troops were in satisfactory fighting condition.

"So many tanks, radars and rifles are defective, that these three divisions are not considered ready for combat. This latest GAO report is just one more sign that the Pentagon's bureaucracy is so riddled with waste and mismanagement that the Army is having trouble fielding a fully ready combat division," said Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., in releasing the report Wednesday.

The survey said that 83 per cent of the first line tanks in the two armored divisions were unable to perform effectively and 70 per cent of the recoilless rifles in the infantry division were deficient.

TF sewer overflow suit wins

BY BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Owners and residents of six homes in the Sigrid Avenue area have been awarded damages against the city of Twin Falls.

Damages estimated at $3,190 resulted from a sewer overflow into their basements and homes Jan. 16, 1971.

The city had denied the claims of the six residents following the damages and they filed suit in Fifth Judicial District Court.

Judge Theron Ward said he awarded the plaintiffs the liability damages on the basis of negligence of one act of negligence on the part of the city.

He said testimony presented during the hearing indicated a city employee saw a manhole cover open and a man looking into the man hole with water running into the manhole at about 11:30 a.m. on Jan. 16.

Other testimony indicated only this type of flow could have caused the sewer to back up to the extent it would damage the homes in question. Judge Ward said the city employee notified the superintendent who was busy getting a backhoe and other equipment to dig into the line for correction of possible blockage of the sewer line.

Not until about 2 p.m. did the superintendent find time to check the manhole.

Ward said he believed this constituted a slight amount of negligence on the part of the defendant and on the basis of this, awarded the claim against the city.

Plaintiffs in the case included Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wickham who estimated their damage at $1,200; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Scheele, $650; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Kimball, $500; Mrs. Bernice Stansell, $470, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Moore, $180.

Judge Ward did not stipulate an amount but said the property owners and city will determine the exact totals for each property.

Europe talks backed

By R.C. LONGWORTH
BRUSSELS (UPI)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) is ready to give the formal go-ahead for preparations of a European security conference, NATO officials said today.

The officials said the West German parliament's ratification Wednesday of Bonn's treaties with Russia and Poland cleared the last roadblock to Western approval of the principle of the conference.

This approval, they said, probably will be announced May 31 in a communique ending the NATO foreign ministers meeting in Bonn.

The officials predicted that talks on preparing the conference would begin in Helsinki in the autumn at the ambassadorial level. The conference itself might open next spring, they said.

The Soviets have long pushed for a security conference, but the Western allies insisted that the Berlin problem first be solved. An acceptable solution was reached in the recent four-power agreement on Berlin, but the Kremlin said it would sign that agreement only when the West German treaties were ratified.

With the Bonn parliamentary vote Wednesday, the key cog in this complicated linkage fell into place.

Many Western analysts believe the Soviets want the conference as a means of endorsing their rule over Eastern Europe and giving the Kremlin a voice in the affairs of Western Europe.

The Western allies, after initial opposition, have gone along reluctantly in part because they feel the conference might boomerang on the Soviets by easing Moscow's control over its bloc.

Recuperating Wallace reads of victories

Central Idaho recreation area boosted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Interior Committee has approved legislation to establish a scenic alpine recreation area in the Sawtooth, White Cloud and Boulder Mountains of Idaho.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate, includes changes proposed by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, which bar any future mining operations in the area.

A House-passed bill and the original Senate bill would have imposed only a five-year moratorium on new mining claims.

Other changes in the bill approved Wednesday include authority for the federal government to condemn existing mining interests in the area.

The sponsors said condemnation, which requires payment of compensation, would probably be used chiefly to acquire abandoned mines and small claims.

The committee-approved bill also would give the National Park Service authority to study the Pioneer Mountains as well as the Sawtooths, White Clouds and Boulder Mountains for inclusion in a possible National Park. The study is to be submitted by Dec. 31, 1974.

The bill also would establish a Sawtooth Wilderness to preserve the Sawtooth peaks but include the wilderness within the recreation area rather than as a separate unit as proposed in the House bill.

Provisions designed to protect the rights of property owners include the concept of "reverse condemnation," under which an owner can force the government to buy his land if he feels government imposed restrictions on its use are too onerous.

With all the sheepmen problems, they may soon be put on the endangered species list.

3rd party support up in survey

NEW YORK (UPI)—Primary election surveys by the New York Times indicate that if Gov. George C. Wallace ran for the presidency on a third party ticket he would take more votes away from President Nixon than from the Democratic contender, the paper said today.

The findings, the paper said, again raise the possibility that no candidate could receive a majority of electoral votes in November. Such a development would throw the choice of a president into the House of Representatives, where the Democrats enjoy a comfortable majority.

Wallace may lose leg use

SILVER SPRING, Md. (UPI)—Doctors now give George Corley Wallace "less than a 50-50 chance" to walk again. Surgeons said Wednesday they would operate a second time on the Alabama governor in the next week or 10 days to remove a 38-caliber bullet lodged in his spinal column.

"Whether he will be able to walk again is open to question," said Dr. James Garber Galbraith of the University of Alabama Medical School.

Galbraith reported on Wallace's fight to recover from severe bullet wounds inflicted by a would-be assassin Monday at a Laurel, Md., shopping center. The Democratic presidential candidate remained paralyzed from the hips down.

Galbraith, who is helping treat Wallace at Holy Cross Hospital, said Wallace was aware of his condition.

"He simply said he was going to fight it and he would make it," Galbraith said.

The doctor said Wallace could expect to recover from his four gunshot wounds within six weeks.

Mine not disaster

KELLOGG, Idaho (UPI)—The families of 91 miners killed in a May 2 fire at Sunshine Silver Mine faced the grim prospect today of making their way financially without federal major disaster funds.

G. A. Lincoln, director of the U.S. Office of Emergency preparedness, said Wednesday that honoring requests for the disaster funds would be unprecedented and possibly illegal.

Idaho Gov. Cecil D. Andrus had requested the federal action. Failure to declare the Cobur d'Alene mining district a major disaster area was a keen disappointment for him.

"If you wonder if I'm disappointed, you're right," Andrus said in Boise after receiving Lincoln's telegram. "This declaration was the legal step needed to make those benefits available to the families."

Those benefits died with the miners.

Lincoln had told the governor: "Our preliminary federal surveys indicate that this extensive underground fire has occurred entirely on private property. There have been no widespread damages to public or private property exclusive of the mine property."

A major disaster declaration as a result of an industrial accident involving only private property would be without precedent in the history of the disaster assistance program.

The silver mine was the nation's largest, and one of the chief employers for the sparse population in northern Idaho.

Lions eat 30 Kenyans

NAIROBI (UPI)—Man-eating lions in Kenya's sparsely populated northeastern province have killed 30 persons in the past five months, according to a district official.

J. Muriuki, district officer in the Wajir region, made the estimate Wednesday after the death of a 24-year-old man who had been herding cattle.

The official said the man had been eaten by a lion.

Muriuki told a meeting of local officials that there are only four game scouts in the region.

Cassia teachers lose court round

BURLEY — Cassia County school teachers lost a round in district court Wednesday.

District Judge Charles Scoggin ruled that the Cassia School district is not required to give copies of the original teacher contracts to the teachers prior to signing.

Instead, Scoggin said, the district need only supply a copy of the original.

Receipt of the original copy of contracts had been part of plans by some district teachers to "stack" their contracts.

The teachers had said they would sign their contracts and turn them over to teacher negotiators to provide leverage in deadlocked Cassia school negotiations.

Man 'dead' as beating heart taken

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—A neurologist testified Wednesday that the donor in a heart transplant operation was "clinically dead" when his heart was removed at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital, although the heart was still beating.

The testimony was given by Dr. Hooshang Hooshman in a $100,000 lawsuit accusing the hospital and several doctors of prematurely terminating the life of Bruce O. Tucker, a 56-year-old black laborer, in order to obtain his heart for a transplant.

Hooshman said he knew Tucker was dead when he performed a preliminary physical examination on him at 1 p.m. May 25, 1968, and verified it a few minutes later with an electroencephalogram, a test to determine whether the brain was functioning.

The neurologist said Tucker's heart was still beating only because a respirator was pumping oxygen into his lungs. He said Tucker was not capable of breathing alone.

"If a patient does not breathe for five minutes (without assistance) that's a very accurate criterion for death," Hooshman said.

He said he did not consider a person to be alive unless the brain functioned.

"His heart was kept alive, but Bruce O. Tucker was not alive," Hooshman said.

Tucker's heart was transplanted into Joseph Klett, 54, of Orange, Va., in an operation that began about three hours after Hooshman said he first knew Tucker was dead. Klett, a white retired metal salesman, died a week later.

Tucker's brother, William E. Tucker of Richmond, is seeking $100,000. He contends his brother's life was prematurely terminated and the permission of his kin was not obtained before the heart was used for the transplant.

The suit also claimed the defendants "embarked upon a systematic and nefarious scheme to excise Bruce O. Tucker's heart from his body and transplant it into the body of another, and did in fact terminate the life of Bruce O. Tucker on May 25, 1968 for that purpose."

FDA vows stepped-up program

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Pres-sured by angry consumers and a worried industry, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has promised a stepped-up program against filth in the nation's 60,000 food plants.

In contrast with past assur-ances that purity of the U.S. food supply was continually improv-ing, FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards acknow-ledged Wednesday "there has been a general decline in the food industry's sanitation prac-tices."

Edwards' statement followed a widely publicized report by the General Accounting Office (GAO), Congress's fiscal inves-tigative arm, which concluded that 40 per cent of food processing plants are unsani-tary.

Edwards pledged more fre-quent inspections and tougher action against violators, both methods recommended by the GAO. But the official who must carry out the program, Dr. Virgil O. Wodicka, director of the FDA Bureau of Foods, said the agency is not yet equipped to do the job.

"We can't do an awful lot of inspecting without inspectors," Wodicka told UPI. The FDA has 210 inspectors for 60,000 food plants, and Edwards has acknowledged that a typical plant is inspected only once every five to seven years.

Edwards' promise anticipated congressional passage of an extra $8 million appropriation that would enable the hiring of 300 more inspectors. Differing versions of the appropriation were passed by the House and Senate, and a compromise awaits final action by both houses.

With the extra inspectors, Wodicka said, the FDA could inspect plants once every three years. "It may not be sufficient but it's about all we can do in one year," Wodicka said of the increase.

The FDA long has been criticized by consumer groups as too small and sometimes too soft. Within the past year, food industry leaders have ex-pressed concern that reports of contamination and lax regulation might sour public confidence in their products.

Following discovery of deadly botulin in canned soup last summer, the National Canned Association successfully urged the FDA to regulate canneries more strictly.

Tuesday, the Grocery Manu-facturers of America (GMA), the food industry's largest trade association, urged Con-gress to give the FDA more money and said the GAO's report of widespread food plant filth was "not surprising."

WASHINGTON — Some slight but significant progress has been scored in the years-long effort to recompute military retired pay.
 Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., powerful chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, now says he is willing to give advocates of recomputation "their day in court" — that is, hearings on the necessary legislation.
 Early this year, he flatly slammed the door on that. In a memorandum to committee members, the veteran Louisiana legislator stated,

"There is no justification for recomputation. The prevailing cost-of-living (CPI) formula is fair and very generous compared to practice in industry and state government."
 Now Hebert is indicating he is willing to permit committee consideration of the Administration's "one-shot" recomputation bill recently introduced by Rep. Charles Gubser, R-Calif., a senior committee member.

But in modifying his opposition to this extent, Hebert significantly DID NOT:
 (1) Give any clue when Gubser's proposal would be taken up; (2) manifest any change of opinion in being against recomputation; Hebert made it very clear he still disapproves of it.

But the fact that he is now agreeable to permit consideration of recomputation is a potentially important gain.
 For the first time, it opens the way for committee action on this issue which has been pending for years and which directly affects nearly one million military retirees and their families throughout the country.

Chairman Hebert disclosed this possibly helpful shift in attitude in a letter to a leader of the fight for recomputation.

With characteristic frankness, the one-time crusading New Orleans newspaperman states that while he still is not convinced of the justification for recomputation, he is prepared to give Gubser's bill consideration.

"I do hope," wrote Hebert, "that there will be time in this session to give the retirees their day in court."

That is encouraging, but no basis for undue expectations.
 Both Hebert's committee and the Senate Armed Services Committee are heavily engrossed in formulating the armed services' annual multi-billion dollar procurement and construction authorization measures. It will be well into summer before they are disposed of.

 In addition, the Senate Armed Services Committee is still dragging its feet on the military retirees survivors' benefits bill — which the House passed unanimously (372 to 0) last October. This measure has been gathering dust in the Senate Committee ever since — with no indication when the legislation will be taken up.

Last week, this column revealed that Committee Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., after much prodding, had finally gone on record as saying there will be hearings. But significantly, he gave no hint of when that might be.

Certainly, such action is unlikely for at least several months.

So the prospects of committee consideration of recomputation are highly iffy — both the House and the Senate. If and when the two Armed Services Committees get around to this long-pending issue is extremely conjectural.

Hebert carefully avoids commenting on this key point in his letter. He does stress his doubts about Congressional approval of recomputation, as follows:
 "Many members of Congress are of the view that the existing military retirement system is, in fact, quite liberal. This view is predicated upon a growing awareness of the immense and burgeoning cost of military retirement. Although I personally supported recomputation efforts in 1963, it is unrealistic to believe that Congress would now reinstate the recomputation principle in military retired pay."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What good are flu shots? My husband and I are 70 and 62, had flu shots but still got the flu so bad. So why spend the money if we get the flu? Were we given too weak a shot, or what? Mrs. L.A.

Nobody has ever claimed that flu vaccine was 100 per cent effective, but if it prevents or moderates three cases out of four, it is still doing a lot of good. The vaccine can make the difference in the attack, causing it to be milder.

It is recommended primarily for "high risk" people which includes some, especially the elderly, who have chronic ailments (lungs, heart, etc.) and need what protection is possible against a case of flu which in them would be particularly hazardous.

One problem is that flu exists in various strains, so the flu vaccine is produced with several strains represented in it. If a new strain appears, then the vaccine has to be modified as has happened.

Finally, the intensity of exposure to the germs has a bearing. The vaccine may protect fully against light exposure but not against intense exposure. At your age, this protection should be taken annually.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 13 and my face looks like a disaster because my eyebrows are terribly bushy and grow across the bridge of my nose. It's beginning to look like one long eyebrow.

I've thought of plucking them but have heard that plucking only stimulates more growth. My mom won't let me go to a doctor and get the hairs permanently removed. Is there any solution that I could use at home which would be fairly permanent? J.R.S.

Plucking doesn't stimulate growth. True, the hairs will grow in again, in time, but can be plucked again. I don't know of any permanent method of removal except electrolysis which by the way, isn't done by doctors, but by trained electrologists. If mom relents and permits that, be sure to go to a registered electrologist. Your doctor probably can refer you to a reliable one.

There was no negotiating or any attempt at negotiating by Th. There was only a "pulsant" and "arrogant" reading of the old terms which amount to a United States and South Vietnamese surrender. It was an insulting, take-it-or-leave-it meeting.

Le Duc Tho wouldn't talk. He would only demand Kissinger was humiliated. He believed the United States and President Nixon had been humiliated as well.

This was Kissinger, the scholar, the reasonable man, who believed longer than almost anyone else high in government that intelligence combined with reasonable negotiations would, in the end, prove fruitful.

For the first time, Kissinger, Mr. Nixon's closest security adviser, saw that neither the Soviet Union nor China had power over the tiny country of North Vietnam. He finally realized that Hanoi was going to go its own way, in its own fashion, regardless of how much pressure Moscow and Peking applied.

The Railroads

The passenger train apparently is going the way of the carrier pigeon toward extinction. As a whole, the railroad industry is in a sorry state thanks to mismanagement, government ineptitude, and union insistence upon costly featherbedding and 70-year-old work rules.

Airplanes, automobiles and buses have taken away most of the passenger traffic. Amtrak, the government agency designed to return rail travel to pleasant and profitable volume, in its first year eliminated more than half of all existing passenger trains without being able to halt the drain.

Only the New York - Washington and New York - Boston runs have been consistent money-makers. As a result, Amtrak has had to appeal to the government for more money. The Senate voted to authorize $587 million for the year beginning July 1, $250 million more than the administration asked and the House approved, but it may be no more than Amtrak needs.

Amtrak will lose about $155 million this fiscal year. Further reductions in passenger service are expected after July 1, 1973.

Under the present system, the railroads provide the facilities and the crews. Amtrak pays the cost plus a five per cent fee and four per cent for liability insurance, obviously needed in the light of increasing derailment, which doubled between 1966 and 1970 to nearly three thousand a year.

Transportation Secretary John Volpe says a large portion of total track mileage must be scrapped to save costs or the industry could wind up broke or nationalized in three to ten years. Five of the 69 major carriers are bankrupt and another dozen have been listed by the Interstate Commerce Commission as "marginal" or nearly broke. Other carriers, fearing a breakdown of the rail system and its nationalization, have proposed a government guarantee of up to $5 billion in loans that could be used to rebuild dilapidating tracks and yards.

Amtrak's losses do not recommend the nationalization. Instead, Congress should revamp the ICC and the railway labor laws, speed up and simplify ridiculously complicated rate-making procedures, and the government, now the railroad's biggest customer, should eliminate the preferential rates it has been getting since 1887.

Rail unions are only awaiting expiration of the cooling-off period to call new strikes and still Congress has refused to approve a transportation labor act.

The railroads have the technology to improve their systems and cut their costs, and they can modernize management and sales if given a chance. Government must give them that chance or take over and call on the overburdened taxpayer to pay the freight.

"REMEMBER, DON'T MENTION HAIPHONG UNLESS THEY DO"

BRUCE BISSAT

Discontent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The eminent historian, Dr. Daniel J. Boorstin, of the Smithsonian Institution, has an idea why Americans these days are making so much of their discontents and frustrations.

He thinks they don't have enough rich living experience to set off against the things that trouble them.

How can this be? In this incredibly "democratized" society, more Americans than ever before can travel the nation and the world, watch or engage in sports and recreation, listen to music of all kinds, see drama in many forms, observe many events of history firsthand, or, through television, at close second-hand.

Isn't all this enough to take a man's mind off his troubles? Boorstin says no. While it obviously can be and is argued that the democratizing of virtually everything is a good end, he sees one gravely dispiriting consequence.

He calls it the diluting or thinning out of experience. Too much of a good thing, gained too easily, is a bore.

Good music heard in warm, friendly settings, at concerts and other public gatherings, on ritualistic occasions, has the stamp of richness about it. But when it pours forth in an unbroken flood from department stores, restaurants, building elevators, airplanes and even street corners, it becomes a gray fog of sound dulling to the senses.

The wonders of travel to places of beauty and strangeness fade if they are seen too often, and in the inescapable company of too many others who find it easy today to make the same journeys. Can the stark grandeur of Yosemite be enjoyed fully as a mere backdrop to a colossal traffic jam?

Under the relentless glare of television's light, the wit of the most inventive comedians falters and the graces of the most stylish actors take on a look of contrivance. The dogged manufacture of "fun" and "dramatic excitement" often ends up producing neither.

Man's going to the moon is a monumental accomplishment, a triumph of human genius, always a perilous plunge into cold, hostile blackness. Yet, after five showings on television, the great diluter, it has no more effect on many Americans than a jaunt to the store for hair spray.

There is just too much laid out before us. And the net of that, says the perceptive Dr. Boorstin, is the thinning out of good living and the consequent magnifying of our discontents.

Specialness and rarity and true individuality are gone from much of what we do and experience. Our goal is said to be heightened opportunity for everyone to be himself. But we are learning that the process which brings that opportunity somehow steals the richness from our choices.

Young workers smothered by the tedium of the factory assembly line seek escape, to enjoy life more. Fine. But doing what? Getting into a traffic line at Yosemite?

School age rebels turn from the watered down pleasures of established society. To do what? To join often in herds on muddy hillsides to listen to scratchy, monstrous sounds called "rock." Muzak does it better in the elevators. The nose and the crowds on the hillsides are big, but the living there is thin.

RAY CROMLEY

Hanoi Nixes

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It can be said with some certainty that Dr. Henry Kissinger, in his recent fruitless secret meeting with Le Duc Tho, North Vietnam's representative, went through one of the most shocking experiences of his life.

The emotional effects were still apparent two weeks after the event.

According to administration sources, the Soviet Union had in four days of meetings with Kissinger promised, in effect, to deliver Hanoi on a platter if the United States would only once again agree to secret negotiations.

The men in the Kremlin had promised Kissinger they would tell Hanoi that unless the invasion were halted or some reasonable talks begun with the United States, Moscow would gradually cut back on war supplies to North Vietnam.

The Soviet leaders said they did not expect the United States to take their word on what they would do. The United States could continue to bomb until Washington saw results.

The Russians said that even a gradual cutback on supplies would not, of course, have an immediate effect on the fighting. Nor would it be quickly discernable. But the United States should watch, and when Washington was able to discover by its own intelligence methods that in fact the Russia-to-Hanoi supply line was indeed shrinking, then Nixon, they hoped, would begin to cut down on the bombings and other aid to match the Russian cutback.

Moscow told Kissinger they would deliver North Vietnam's

Le Duc Tho to Paris ready to talk. The evidence was, and still is, that the Russians meant what they said and believed they could do what they promised. This information comes from men who normally do not trust the Soviet Union.

But North Vietnam bolted. Le Duc Tho appeared in Paris. But in those secret meetings, as Kissinger has put it, the North Vietnamese said nothing that could not have been clipped out of a newspaper.

There was no negotiating or any attempt at negotiating by Th. There was only a "pulsant" and "arrogant" reading of the old terms which amount to a United States and South Vietnamese surrender. It was an insulting, take-it-or-leave-it meeting.

Le Duc Tho wouldn't talk. He would only demand Kissinger was humiliated. He believed the United States and President Nixon had been humiliated as well.

This was Kissinger, the scholar, the reasonable man, who believed longer than almost anyone else high in government that intelligence combined with reasonable negotiations would, in the end, prove fruitful.

FDA Files

Public health generally, and the cause of consumerism in particular, has been advanced by the decision of the Food and Drug Administration to open its files to the public, and keep them open.

The FDA acted in compliance with the Freedom of Information Act. It also has been nudged by the pressure of news media and consumer advocates.

The disclosure effort corrects an inequity which has involved the health of the nation on both physical and economic levels. There never was a solid reason for secrecy, other than the protection of formulas and trade secrets of money value to the owners.

This protection will be continued. Almost everything else, even telephone conversations, will be declassified.

Dissemination of this information will be useful in the buyer's market, but the FDA has not indicated it will have a hand in this. Presumably this is to be left to consumer organizations.

Interested persons now have 60 days to comment before a final policy statement is published, and industries will have 180 additional days to make a case for keeping some data confidential.

MR. SPECTATOR

Teaching Teachers

"Little children need the calm and security which only an orderly and quiet atmosphere can give. They need also the protective assurance of a teacher who through a benevolent authority will tell them what he expects them to do, and will help them to carry out his instructions in an ordered environment. He is there to teach them, not to watch them pretending to teach themselves."

These words were not uttered by someone back in the educational Dark Ages of the 19th century. They were written by Stuart Froome in his 1970 book, "Why Tommy Isn't Learning."

Froome is headmaster of St. Jude's Church of England Junior School in Surrey, England, where, reports the bulletin of the Washington-based Council for Basic Education, parents all but queue up to get their children admitted.

Poor, backward England! American parents can be thankful that this alien philosophy has been uprooted from our land and that the forces of permissiveness and progressivism are ever vigilant against any suggestion that a child is not his own best judge of what and how he should learn.

Schools as places of calm and security and order and quiet. Teachers as benevolent authorities. Indeed, teachers whose main function is to teach. Indeed, indeed.

ON WELFARE

One of the troubles with trying to solve some of the nation's problems is that the voices of pessimism frequently overshadow those which demonstrate a positive approach. The result is little progress toward a solution.

The growth of welfare, both in numbers of people and in dollars, is an example. Last year $17.7 billion was spent on welfare by the federal government, an increase of nearly 20 per cent over the previous year.

In 14 states and U. S. jurisdictions, the number of persons on the welfare rolls grew by more than 20 percent. The rolls expanded between 10 and 20 percent in 20 other states.

But in nine states (including California) welfare rolls declined last year. The question those who are sincerely interested in getting answers about this problem ought to be asking is: how did those nine states manage to buck the trend?

Jerome plans street benches

Thursday, May 18, 1972 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 7

JEROME — The Jerome City Council Tuesday night granted permission to Jim Payton, Jerome, to place benches along Main Street for use by senior citizens.

Payton told the council he has obtained permission from six local merchants to place the benches on the four corners of the Main-Lincoln intersection, at Mel's Texaco and at the home of Maude Vineyard on East Main. Advertising will be placed on the benches to help pay for them, Payton said. The benches will give senior citizens places to rest between Heritage Homes and the downtown shopping area, according to Payton.

An application by Mr. and Mrs. Art Doramus of Jerome to build a trailer park on North Filmore was referred back to the zoning commission by the council.

The Doramus plan to put 12 trailer spaces on their property which is adjacent to Heritage Homes. The zoning commission had earlier refused the application, but the council asked Doramus to seek approval of the senior citizen's center and signatures of property owners in the neighborhood for the zoning commission's consideration.

The council's main objection to the trailer park concerned the possibility of future expansion of Heritage Homes, which would be limited by building the trailer park.

A request by Joe Pharris to place a cul-de-sac road to his property located on East Ave. H was denied by the council. The council granted Pharris permission to put a straight road through the area if easement for the street is granted to the city.

Don Thuesen told the council that Pharris was presently getting an easement from property owners to put in the street.

The council voted by 3-1 to pay an $879 claim from Webb, Burton, Pike and Carlson, attorneys in Twin Falls, for legal services connected with the recent court action on the recall of two councilmen.

Fifth District Judge Theron Ward ruled the council must hold a recall election. The election is scheduled for June 6.

Councilman Marshall Everheart voted against the motion, saying the bill was too high, and that a complete breakdown of the time spent should have been submitted.

In other business before the council, Jerome Chief of Police Howard DuBois reported he has received eight applications for the position of patrolman. He said that two of the applicants may be acceptable, but the majority of them he felt were too young for the position.

DuBois received permission to advertise again in a wider area for the position.

In Councilman reports, Everheart said the fire department could obtain a panel truck at a reasonable cost from the National Guard and recommended the purchase. He said the truck would be used by the fire department to carry small equipment, and by Fire Chief Lynn Bingham, who is presently using his personal car for city business.

The minutes of a special meeting held May 11, of which the news media was not informed, were read by city clerk Marlene Bragg. The council had approved conducting a survey of the sewer system in preparation for applying for a federal grant. The survey will take between three and four months at a cost of about $3,000.

Bellevue buys new fire truck

BELLEVUE — Purchase of a used $3,000 fire truck has been approved by the Bellevue City Council.

During a special meeting Monday night, the council moved to allocate money from the general fund for the purchase. The truck was bought from the Rati River Fire District, Malta, and is expected to be brought to the city Thursday afternoon.

In other action the council authorized implementation of a plan by Alderman Mike Ivie to increase water system pressure. Ivie had earlier proposed installation of a series of valves in the water source in Muldoon Canyon to bypass the filter tank and utilize water lost over the spillway.

Construction is expected to begin as soon as the necessary shut-off and pressure relief valves can be obtained. Material costs are expected to total from $1,000 to $1,500.

According to Mayor James Pigg the project will be carried out by city employees at no additional construction cost to the city.

Increased fire protection and water system improvement were cited by Mayor Pigg — who was installed May 1 — as top priorities, along with acquisition of additional equipment to make the city more self-sufficient.

In further action, the council moved to test a dust control chemical on several of the city's more traveled streets. If the chemical proves successful, all of Bellevue's about 15 miles of roads will be treated for dust control at a cost of about $600.

Mayor Pigg said one gallon of the chemical is mixed with 2,000 gallons of water and that all the roads could be treated in one day.

The council also passed an ordinance disallowing any new construction or preparation for construction without the approval of the City Council. The ordinance also sets minimum setbacks and stipulations for fence heights.

The crowd at the Camelot bridge-rama were in great excitement. It was the last hand of the championship. Gawaine and his brother Gareth sat East and West for Ireland. Lancelot and his son Galahad sat North and South for England. England had to bid and make game to win the match and the audience cheered when after Lancelot's limit raise to three spades, Galahad went on to game because his heart was pure and because he had six spades.

Gareth opened the king of clubs. Galahad looked over it with a carefully thought. "Forsooth, if I had Merlin's magic I would have been three no-trump. Now I have to keep Gawaine out of the lead else my contract is lost."

Then he called for dummy's deuce of clubs. Gawaine played the nine and now it was Gareth's turn to do something. He thought and played the ten of clubs.

Galahad thought some more. Did Gareth hold king-queen-jack-small of clubs? In that case it was up to Galahad to duck again but he decided that Gareth's club holding was exactly what it was. Then he called for dummy's ace, led the six of clubs and discarded a diamond.

"Gadzooks!" cried Gareth. "Thou playest as well as Lancelot!" Then he cashed his ace of hearts to save the overtrick that Galahad would score if Gareth played anything else.

news about the people you know Valley Living

DEAR ABBY: Is it a crime to be single? I am a woman in my 40s and I've never been married. Please tell me what to say to people who ask, "How come you're not married?"

I work in an office with a group of girls who are from 20 to 30 years old. Most are married and have been for a long time.

I have two sisters who are married, and two brothers, also married. This makes me look like an outcast. My nieces, who are 18 and up, talk about nothing except finding a guy and getting married.

I dread to go to work in the morning, and I even turn down invitations because I am always the odd one.

Dear Abby, please tell me what to say to these heartless people.

DAILY READER

DEAR READER: You need not apologize for your unmarried status. [Some are single by choice, and have better lives than their married friends.] Your problem is feeling self-conscious about it. Forget it.

Some legitimate reasons why a woman your age is single:

- A preference for variety.
- A satisfying arrangement with one who cannot marry her.

- Prefers to look after herself and nobody else.
- Hasn't met anyone for whom she'd trade her independence.

And if anyone has the nerve to ask you why you're not married, look right thru him as tho he were speaking a foreign language.

DEAR MISS VAN BUREN: I was intrigued by the letter from the woman concerned about privacy in the matter of marital status. I believe her purposes would be better served by using initials rather than the abbreviation "Ms." In the matter of correspondence, this play has the further advantage of giving no clues as to the sex of the writer.

In this connection, it is interesting to note that in the Soviet Union (frequently cited as a model for sexual equality by extremists in the feminine liberation movement) the Russian last name indicates the sex of an individual, thus negating this particular advantage of using initials.

I find these absurd efforts to obliterate differences on the assumption that this will produce the miracle of equality one of the more entertaining phenomena of the present age.

Sincerely, T. P. RONDOMANSKI

DEAR T. P.: Very interesting. To further illustrate your point, a Russian man would be "Romanov," and a woman, "Romanova."

DEAR ABBY: Once again, a letter in your column from a man complaining because his wife doesn't give him enough "affection." ("I just can't get her into the bedroom," he says.)

When a man says "affection," he means sex. Sex is great, but what most women really want is affection. The reassuring words, the warm embraces, the loving looks.

In my case, I can't show my husband the least bit of "affection" without his wanting to head for the bedroom, the clothes closet or any place that's handy.

He isn't the "affectionate" type. And he doesn't want to waste time with preliminaries.

Women are advised to fake orgasms in order to please their husbands. Will you please advise men to fake a little affection in order to please their wives? It could save their marriages.

THE GAME OF EXERCISE

By Mary Sue Miller

A young mother writes: I hear so much about exercising to keep fit. But I can't find the time. I have two youngsters who get home in the early afternoon from school. My little daughter is at home — period.

Keeping up with three kids and the household chores uses up the day.

The answer: Try making a game of exercise with your small girl. It will help keep you trim and entertain the child. You'll both have fun.

1. Sit on floor facing each other with knees bent and soles of feet touching. Clasp hands and rock gently back and forth to a favorite tune. Take it slowly at first. You may get so good with every pull and stretch that each leaves floor. Then you'll see why the game is called "Hobby Horse."

2. Mother-and-daughter race. Sit on floor facing in same direction. Hold arms across chest. On signal, each of you lifts right hip off floor and shunts right leg forward slightly. Repeat to left so that you start walking across room on your hips. Take long "steps" and move quickly. No matter who comes in first, mother's hips are winners.

3. Get down on all fours and creep. Move forward with left hand and right knee, right hand and left knee. After three creeps, stretch right arm forward, lift and stretch left leg back. Continue stretching and creeping as long as energy lasts.

Bets are daughter will outlast mother!

LAZY GIRL'S EXERCISES

Here's an effortless way to trim off heavy spots. All you need is a floor or sit down, and flex your muscles. If that's for you, send for LAZY GIRL'S EXERCISES. Based on the isometric principle of exercise, routines trim head-to-toe figure. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin.

You know what it's like. If the top of your two-piece bathing suit fits, the bottom half doesn't. And vice versa.

You probably even thought about switching the top from one suit to the bottom from another when the salesgirl wasn't looking. But you were too chicken.

Well now you can switch tops and bottoms just as much as you like. And get away with it. Because now there's Swim Bali.

You buy a Swim Bali suit in two separate pieces. A top that fits you. And a bottom that fits you. After all, who could possibly know more about good fit than the brassiere experts at Bali?

First make up your mind which of the luscious prints really turns you on. Then choose the top in your bra size and get that famous Bali fit.

Hue battle in offing?

N. Viet expected to attack Hue anytime

By EDWARD K. DELONG WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. defense officials believe that four North Vietnamese Army divisions may now be in position to attack the old imperial city of Hue, any day. They say it "could be the decisive battle of the campaign."

Officials in Washington believe a decisive South Vietnamese victory could break the back of the entire three-prong invasion launched Easter weekend by North Vietnam. A Communist victory, they would be a serious military and psychological blow to the South.

"As to how it will come out, no one knows," one highly placed official told UPI. "I'm optimistic (the South Vietnamese can win), but it could be very bloody, very brutal. I think it will last for days, perhaps weeks, but there will be hulls in there."

"It could be the decisive battle of this campaign — for either side."

Officials also said the ferocity of the North Vietnamese push and the willingness of the Communists to take "terrible" losses came as surprises. They said "we must never underestimate the resolve our enemy shows — he really has determination."

Hue lies 55 miles south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) that separates the two Vietnams. The troops and tanks that now threaten it punched across the DMZ, shattered South Vietnam's northern defense line and then — on May 3 — captured the provincial capital of Quang Tri about mid-way between Hue and the DMZ. The other two prongs of the offensive are aimed at a pair of other provincial capitals — Kontum City in the Central Highlands and An Loc about 60 miles north of Saigon.

Since the fall of Quang Tri, major action on all three fronts has died into an uneasy lull punctuated by shellings and short attacks by both sides while the opposing armies regroup into position for the next round, which U.S. officials believe will start at Hue.

"From the last that we could put together, they were several days away from being in a position to start the attack," one official said. "But that information could have been several days old when we got it."

"My guess is we are in the period now when they could launch their attack any day," he added.

"Some people are using the by-guess-and-by-God method and saying the 19th (Friday) is Ho Chi Minh's birthday and that's when they will attack. But there's no intelligence to support that."

There is no way for the Communists to replace now much of what they lost in the first round of the invasion fighting, particularly tanks and organized army units, U.S. officials say. Hanoi stripped North Vietnam of all but one division of regular army troops, about 15,000 men, to mount the attack.

Losses to South Vietnamese troops and U.S. planes and naval artillery included at least 250 tanks and other heavy tracked vehicles, intelligence officials say. This was half the number on hand to launch the invasion, and one-third of North Vietnam's total inventory. The Communists also suffered an estimated more than 25,000 killed — the equivalent of almost two divisions. Many of these were regimental headquarters troops and officers, captured prisoners have reported.

The northernmost Communist divisions, reinforced by some fresh troops sent down over the DMZ, are poised to the north and the southwest of Hue. Defending the city are the remainder of the South Vietnamese 3rd Division, the crack 1st Division, and elements of South Vietnamese marine and airborne troops.

Officials said that if the North Vietnamese overrun the defenders of Hue, mauling them badly, "then they will have delivered a very serious blow to South Vietnamese combat capability — and a serious psychological blow, too, because of the symbolic importance of Hue."

"On the other hand, should they launch this attack and be thrown back with heavy casualties, it could be the last major attack on Hue for some time — for months at least," he added.

The next three post-season Sugar Bowl college football games in New Orleans will be telecast on Dec. 31 instead of on New Year's Day as in the past. Also, they will be aired in prime night time instead of during the daytime.

One-fourth of oldsters in US live in poverty

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Of the nation's 20 million persons aged 65 and older, about 4.7 million or one-fourth of them live in poverty with annual incomes of $2,328 or less for a couple and $1,852 for an individual living alone.

Older persons make up about 10 per cent of the total population but 20 per cent of the poor. In other words, if you're old, you're twice as likely to be poor.

Such statistical characteristics of aged Americans are from Herman B. Brötnan, assistant to the Commissioner of the U.S. Administration on Aging. He also reports:

VOTING—Of the number of persons who cast ballots in the 1968, presidential election, 17 per cent were age 65 and older. As a group, larger percentages of older persons voted than younger persons. For example, of all persons 55 and older, 70.2 per cent voted in 1968 while only 66.7 per cent of persons aged 54 and younger voted.

HEALTH COSTS—In fiscal year 1970, of the $58 billion spent on personal health care, over $15.7 billion or 27 per cent was spent on aged persons. On an individual basis, older Americans spent $791 a year for health care—and persons under 65 spent $226. Of the $791, public sources like medicare and medical provided $534 and private sources like personal income and savings provided $257. The biggest chunks of the $791 went for hospital care ($372) and doctors' services ($136).

MARRIAGE—Most older men are married; most older women are widowed. Among 100—wives aged 25—with husbands aged 30, about 31 will be widows before the husband reaches age 65 and 42 will be widows after the husbands reaches age 65.

NEGRO AGED—The 22.7 million black Americans of all ages represent 11.2 per cent of the population but the 1.6 million older Negroes account for only 7.8 per cent of the older population.

Irish voters approve joining European plan

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Voters of the Irish Republic have given overwhelming approval to joining the European Common Market, along with Britain, Denmark and Norway. The Irish referendum was the first of three to be held this year on the question of joining the market. Assuming all give their approval, membership in the market will be increased to 10 and the market itself, in the words of President Nixon, will become one of the "five great economic superpowers." A Western Europe so united as to make war impossible among its member nations is an ideal supported by every American president since the end of World War II. But as an economic reality the United States faces it with mixed emotions. Washington fears that an enlarged common market will take increasingly large bits out of American foreign trade, not only among its own membership but also among the members of the former E.F.T.A. the European Free Trade Association embracing Sweden, Portugal, Austria and Switzerland, and associated countries such as Finland and others along the Mediterranean and in Africa. Britain will join the market by approval of Parliament, skipping the referendum. Denmark will ballot on Oct. 2 and Norway on Sept. 24 and 25.

Among those whose governments already have agreed to meet the market's conditions and to be ready to join on Jan. 1, only Norway remains in real doubt. The Norwegian government is strongly in favor, but among the independent-minded Norwegians a strong grassroots opposition has developed, harping on loss of sovereignty and with special emphasis on possible invasion of Norway's rich fishing grounds.

Common Market officials have agreed to give the Norwegian fishing industry special consideration over 10 years but it may not be enough to win the 60 per cent or more of the popular vote which the government wants before joining. Like her neighbors, it is necessary for Norway to export its fish, its ships and its wood and paper products. Protection for Norwegian fisheries provided an emotional issue for staying out of the market. But though she exports 90 per cent of her fish income from her fishing industry is at the bottom of the list of her five most important exports and seems certain to decline further. Despite the opposition, for her the Common Market seems a necessity. Agriculture remains a mainstay of the Danish economy, and if Britain enters, the Common Market for the Danes also is a necessity. Being outside the Common Market has cost her heavily, especially in her trade with West Germany. Ten years ago, other European countries took 37 per cent of her agricultural exports. Now it is less than a quarter. Ireland has a special interest in Common Market membership. Besides boosting her exports and helping with her unemployment, she also looks forward to closer relations with the six northern counties of Ulster as result of facing the same problems inside the market. Before repainting steel casement window frames, wash them.

Security no problem in Soviet Union

Journey to Moscow: Security
Easter Behind Iron Curtain
 By HELEN THOMAS
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scores of Secret Service agents will be guarding President Nixon during his trip to the Soviet Union but security is not considered a problem in Russia. Officials said they have received complete cooperation for the Moscow summit and are following the same procedure invoked for any Presidential trip abroad.

Nixon's black bubbletop limousine will be flown to Moscow for the trip—but the reason is as much show as security. The car also will be airlifted to Iran and Poland where the President and Mrs. Nixon will stop during their 13-day trip.

A group of Secret Servicemen will go to Moscow in advance and be on the ground when the "Spirit of '76" touches down. Other agents will travel with the President. Still others will proceed to Leningrad and Kiev to await the Presidential party. Agents in the advance team have been working closely with their Soviet counterparts, making dry runs of all stops and planning motorcade routes and alternate "escape" plans, in case of trouble.

While insuring that maximum measures will be taken to safeguard the President, the agents tread lightly, realizing they are guests in the various countries Nixon will visit. The agents start by scouring the buildings and rooms where Nixon will be meeting with top Soviet leaders. They check everything, even the crystal chandeliers.

They take up security posts hours before the President arrives at a meeting place, keeping an eye on the crowds outside and the roofs of buildings. Inside, corridors and rooms are carefully checked. The agents are armed and carry other weapons in their backup car. They are trained in judo and crowd control. They have gone somewhat mod, wearing longer hair and bright colored shirts compared to their somber suits and their London Fog coats of the past. They also seem generally much younger than their Russian counterparts. Wendell replies on gym project

By PEGGY CHU
Times-News writer

WENDELL — School Supt. Lawrence LaRue said Wendell residents have voiced two major objections to a proposed gymnasium — construction planned for the city.

Primary objections to the construction of the gymnasium are that proposed seating capacity is not large enough and the facility will not be constructed adjacent to the school.

Referring to the bond election scheduled for tomorrow, LaRue told the Times-News that Wendell residents agree that a new gymnasium and classroom additions are needed.

The seating capacity in the proposed gym would be 1,836 compared to 500 at the present school. Inquiries were made to other schools to find out their gym capacities and most seat fewer than the proposed Wendell gym, LaRue said. At a public meeting held Monday, Wendell residents expressed concern whether the proposed gym would meet the community's future needs.

The gym cannot be constructed adjacent because land costs are too high. Instead, plans call for a site three blocks east of Wendell high, LaRue said.

Included in the $520,000 total are $60,000 for two classrooms and an arts and crafts room to be added to the junior high school, $32,000 for a 40-acre lot site for the gymnasium, $340,000 for gym construction and $25,000 athletic equipment expenses. The total amount could be paid over a 20-year period and amounts to 9.1 mills, LaRue said.

Voting will be held from noon to 8 p.m. at Wendell High School.

Death scene of Blaine official

Blaine man died instantly

HAILEY — Blaine County Commission Chairman John Fox apparently died instantly after a tractor accident Wednesday morning at the Quigley Dam east of Hailey.

According to Sheriff Orville Drexler, Fox, 41, Hailey, was standing beside Edward Cameron, Bellevue, at 10 a.m. as Cameron was squatting to repair a headgate.

A tractor was parked on the dam above the headgate structure with the front of the vehicle facing the pair and a chain attached to the tractor, holding the headgate.

Sheriff Drexler said the tractor rolled down the incline and over the headgate, narrowly missing Cameron. Fox's head was pinned between the rear portion of the vehicle, which landed on its wheels in a mudbank, and a rock.

Cameron ran about two miles to a telephone to report the death because his truck was mired in mud, Sheriff Drexler said.

Sun Valley Ready-Mix brought a front-end loader to the scene to free Fox.

The body was taken to Bird Funeral Home in Hailey.

Lucky escape

BELLEVUE — A Bellevue woman had a lucky escape Wednesday.

Mrs. Gerald Sherman, Broadford Road, was driving toward her ranch when she saw a tree across the road, accidentally felled during a controlled burn.

As she got out of the car to report the fallen tree, a downed power line came in contact with the antenna of her car. When she looked back, she saw smoke coming from the left rear tire of the vehicle.

Mrs. Sherman said damage to the tire was minimal. She went to the neighbor's to report the downed line to the power company.

Rupert enforces rules on garbage

RUPERT — Stronger enforcement of city garbage pickup rules was announced by Rupert City Council during its meeting Tuesday at city hall.

Banjo Leoni, sanitation department, was criticized by the council for being too lax in requiring that garbage cans have lids and handles and that grass clippings be placed in containers.

Leoni agreed to cooperate with city police in enforcing the city rules on garbage by issuing warnings and citations.

The council agreed to change the schedule for garbage pickups after the new garbage truck arrives later this month. The change will allow residents who now have their garbage picked up on Monday to receive their second pickup on Thursday. Residents now receiving pickups on Tuesday will receive their second weekly pickup on Friday. Garbage crews will be working 10 hours each day, four days per week with the change.

Ed Culver, chief of police, was authorized to prepare plans to construct a shooting range on city owned property adjacent to the sanitary landfill.

Mike Rinard, city recreation director, was instructed to write up specifications so bids may be let for a new lawn mower.

The council will meet Tuesday with residents of the Grandview Addition in regard to oiling streets in that area.

A five horsepower outboard motor for use by personnel at city waste water plant was approved for purchase.

Flags for the city Fourth of July Celebration will be purchased for $1,118 from a Heyburn firm.

Detour signs for all truck traffic are to be placed on 17th Street because of a dust problem.

Victim of car crash identified

JEROME — The victim of a one-car accident Tuesday night on Interstate 80N has been identified as Kathleen Joyce Bulleset, 19, Portland, Ore.

Idaho State Police said the young woman was traveling from college in Missouri to her home in Portland. According to officials at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., Miss Bulleset had just finished her freshman year.

Her traveling companion, Teresa Gellatly, 20, Wenatchee, Wash., remains in critical condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Both girls were thrown from the small stationwagon in which they were traveling. Miss Bulleset was dead at the scene of the accident east of the Valley Interchange.

The entire community will be involved in the effort and Sullivan asks local residents to join in the effort to clean up the city.

Chairmen of the project are Eugene Fredericksen and Roger Samson.

Tour at Gooding

GOODING — State and local officials toured the Idaho Tuberculosis Hospital here today in hopes of finding a use for the facility.

Burley teachers lose court round

Scoggin's ruling said, "The board is not required to deliver the originals to the teachers, but must at least send them a photostatic copy and give them a chance to review it before they are required to sign the contract."

"The board could and should have made an extra copy at the time the contracts were delivered to the respective principals so the teachers could have had a copy to take in order to make his or her decision thereon and return to his or her school and sign the contract in triplicate, one to be delivered to the teacher, one to the school board, and one to the state or advise the board, he or she, did not wish to contract. A photostatic copy has now, after issuance of the alternate read, been delivered to each teacher, which is substantial compliance", according to Judge Scoggin's written decision.

Mrs. Jean Snow, president of the Cassia County Educational Association said Wednesday teachers would begin signing contracts at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in the Central School Office. This is one day ahead of the deadline set by the board of trustees for teachers in Cassia County to sign contracts.

The school teachers had charged that trustees had no right to give only copies of contracts to teachers.

Teacher contracts were at each school principal's office with orders that the contracts be signed in the office and teachers only be allowed to take out duplicates.

Mrs. Snow said it was brought out in court that about 75 percent of the teachers had already signed their contracts prior to the court action.

Mrs. Snow said "about 20 percent of the teachers who signed their contracts were newer teachers who were not yet under contract renewal law or teachers who were afraid of their jobs and were fighting to keep their teaching position."

"Presently there is a great surplus of teachers in the area," Mrs. Snow added.

"We still feel the board was wrong, but we will be signing our contracts Thursday afternoon," Mrs. Snow said.

Gooding slates school auction

GOODING — The Gooding school trustees set June 17 at 10 a.m. for an auction of equipment in the old high school building.

Also auctioned will be the old field house, the trustees decided in a special meeting Tuesday night. Bids for demolition of the old high school will be opened June 12.

The trustees toured the grounds and inspected the new high school Tuesday evening. According to Supt. James Myszat some new trees will have to be moved, but otherwise the board was pleased with the landscaping.

The board reviewed the curriculum of the junior high and grade schools, and considered a resource unit for the junior high, and more special education courses at the grade school level.

Dedication of the new high school will be June 10 at 1 p.m. with a cornerstone laid that morning by the Masonic Lodge. Tentative speakers for the ceremony were reviewed by the trustees who have sent requests to the speakers.

The board will conduct tours of the school and grounds following the dedication.

Trustees authorized the installation of a sprinkler system in front of the grade school and discussed an additional sprinkler system at the athletic field.

Theater chief talks in Boise

BOISE (UPI) — Aldrich Bowler, director of the Buhl Antique Festival Summer Theater, outlined hopes for a "renaissance of the arts" Wednesday through repertoire and regional theaters.

Bowler told an Idaho Press Club luncheon his group gives usual theater performances plus workshops and sessions in areas such as state parks where the financial return is on a "pass the hat" basis.

"We are answering the question of whether there is a need for theater," Bowler said, adding the summer park performances are planned to "spread out and touch our borders."

Bowler said many Americans are becoming disenchanted with Broadway Theater and are instead turning to repertoire theaters or regional theaters.

Bowler said the theater is funded by grants, sponsors, contributions, fees, and collections and in turn gives scholarships to some who assist during the summer season.

"The arts are always subsidized by someone else's money," he said. "We're ready now to show apt exemplify that the actor subsidizes it by putting in more than he gets."

Bowler discussed environmental problems in the Hagerman valley area, noting, "I see things that are happening and I see the things that have to be done."

"We've got to do something about this situation. You can't change what you're putting into water but you can make your ponds more scenic."

He said one alternative is to ask the Bureau of Land Management for a study of areas to determine whether the highest and best use is taken into account.

Hailey death ruled drowning

HAILEY — Apparent accidental drowning has been ruled as the cause of death of a Hailey man found Tuesday afternoon in the Hiawatha Canal north of Hailey.

The ruling was made after an autopsy Wednesday at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital, Twin Falls.

The victim, Lagrand (Grant) Young, 71, Hailey, had been working as an irrigator at the Hubbard Ranch north of Hailey.

According to Blaine County Sheriff Orville Drexler, Young was found lying in the water against the headgate of a canal about 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, by canal watermaster Robert Brooks.

The body was found on the Kenneth Buttrum Ranch about one mile downstream from where Young was working.

TF recreation plan presented

TWIN FALLS — Preliminary inventory on recreational facilities in Twin Falls County and potential recreational development were presented at a meeting Tuesday in Twin Falls.

Paul Ostyn, chairman of the recreation study division of the Twin Falls County Resource Planning Association, conducted a meeting of his committee following individual studies of separate phases of recreation.

Larry Drexler submitted a report including maps and proposed drawings of facilities needed for trail machines, model planes and recreational vehicle use.

He said the needs include an official designation for a hill-climb area for cyclists and a field for model plane enthusiasts and competitive events. Drexler listed tentative sites and drawings for such a field.

Don Zuck listed 59 potential county park sites, giving a brief history of each and reported on park development over the past several years under the Twin Falls County Parks and Recreation Commission.

He said one of the most important sites for development is an area of Snake River Canyon west of Twin Falls. Access is available, he said for a development of about five miles in length for various types of recreation from Rock Creek to the springs areas.

Bonnie Jones reported on winter sports facilities including skiing, snowmobiling and winter play areas. Existing ski facilities at Magic Mountain in Twin Falls County accommodate about 1,500 skiers per hour in uphill lift and tow facilities.

Future needs include additional beginner hill lifts and expanded day lodge and cafeteria facilities. Four locations are under study for future lift construction. Completion of the Rock Creek Canyon road is a major need for all winter and summer recreation in that area.

There are about 535 licensed snowmobiles in the county with Diamond Field Jack Snowmobile area the only officially designated snowmobiling facility within the county. Additional restroom, possibly overnight camper facilities and other accommodations are under consideration by the Sawtooth National Forest.

Chad Browning reported on municipal recreation programs. He listed year around activities program in Twin Falls for persons of all ages.

Browning said a better utilization of school facilities including buildings and grounds with municipal and school cooperation would afford better recreational programs and facilities in many smaller communities. He said. Only one community in the county, Castleford, has no city park or playground.

Tom Shouse reported on year around use of the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds including plans for holding state and national events at the facility. He also listed plans for future improvements and expansion which he said needs only money for realization.

Ed Woods, county zoning administrator and planning officer, said the meeting.

Ostyn will present a report on the recreation inventory at a county planning board meeting in which all resource chairmen will report on the progress of the total county planning program.

BOTTLING this day-old Holstein calf is a project for Lori and Troy Conder, children of Major and Mrs. Jimmie L. Conder, Filer. The children saved money to buy the calf and got it when it was less than an hour old. It is fed cow's milk twice a day using a large bottle and nipple.

Witnesses accused of lying on DDT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Witnesses who testified under oath about the alleged hazards of DDT have been accused by a pesticides industry lawyer of failing to tell the truth. He named four scientists.

"Scientific experts have consistently taken the position of advocates," against DDT, attorney Robert L. Ackerly told an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) hearing Tuesday.

The hearing was the EPA's final one before it must decide by June 15 whether to ban DDT. The testimony challenged by Ackerly was given during previous hearings on behalf of environmentalists seeking elimination of the pesticide.

"I am challenging much of the testimony given by witnesses for EPA and the Environmental Defense Fund (EDF)," Ackerly said. "Some of the witnesses in this hearing were not truthful."

Ackerly then cited alleged flaws in scientific data presented by Robert Heath, a biological statistician at the U.S. Patuxent (Md.) Wildlife Research Laboratory; Dr. George Woodwell, an ecologist and EDF founder associated with Brookhaven National Laboratories on Long Island; Dr. Joseph Hickey, a University of Wisconsin ornithologist; and Dr. Samuel Epstein, a physician at Case Western Reserve, Cleveland.

But during his presentation he accused Heath of giving incomplete and misleading data connecting DDT with bird eggshell thinning; Woodwell of overstating the amount of DDT that accumulated in a marsh; Hickey of claiming that the population of ospreys and peregrine falcons was declining despite data to the contrary; and Epstein of linking DDT with tumors in laboratory mice despite inconclusive test results.

Kramer Gem dairy wives set deplores gun plan meeting

TWIN FALLS — The attempted assassination of Gov. Wallace is deplorable, but the clamor by some to do away with guns is equally deplorable according to Doug Kramer, Twin Falls County Republican Chairman.

Kramer released today comments made by him to a newly formed Young Republican Club in Twin Falls. In those comments the Republican chairman called on Congress to maintain its sanity in this latest atrocity. He said, "Each time there is a brutal, senseless act with a gun, the anti-gun people contend that such acts would have been prevented. If guns were outlawed. Such reasoning is absolutely false and a reaction in its own way as radical as the misuse of the gun."

"Americans must not be stampeded into bad legislation that vitally affects our liberties. The right to bear arms is such a liberty. If we can live with the Fifth Amendment which protects communists and criminals, certainly we can live with the right to bear arms which protects free and honest citizens. To outlaw guns in the hands of law abiding citizens, only makes the criminal safer in his use of guns to commit crimes."

Privacy sought by mother turtle

PORT CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The trials of motherhood are many for a lumbering female sea turtle trying to dodge curiosity-seekers and predators to lay eggs on a Florida beach.

It's egg-laying season and barnacle sea turtles in record numbers are crawling up the beaches fronting the nation's moonport every night.

Waiting in the darkness are hundreds of humans with flashlights and cameras, and some hungry raccoons licking their paws in anticipation of a feast.

"The beach from Fort Pierce to New Smyrna has come to be the hottest turtle crawl area in the continental United States," said Lt. Hank Morgan of Titusville, a Florida marine patrol officer who has been patrolling the coast for 19

Small farmers not hit by government policies

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government farm policies will have comparatively little future impact on the pocketbooks of most of the nation's smallest farmers, according to a review of Agriculture Department records.

Estimates by department economists indicate, in fact, that for about a third of the operators listed as farmers in most current statistics, agriculture is a sideline which supplies only about one-ninth of family income.

A department tabulation, due for revision soon on the basis of new census data, estimates that of 2.9 million U.S. farms in 1970, about 1.2 million had gross farm product sales of under $2,500.

These small farms averaged only $1,659 in net farm income, but they reported total family income averaging $9,013 per farm.

The difference between the farm and total income figures on the small farms was off-farm income which averaged $7,954 per family.

On a total income basis, the 1970 records showed that 1.2 million "under $2,500 sales" farm families were better off financially than farm operators with sales averaging up to $10,000 a year.

For farm families with agricultural sales between $2,500-$5,000 a year, total 1970 income averaged $7,514 (including $2,049 net farm income and $5,465 off-farm earnings). Families with farm product sales in the $5,000-$10,000 range had total 1970 income of $8,478 (including $3,492 net farm income and $4,986 in off-farm earnings).

Records show the growing concentration on off-farm jobs among people living on the smallest farms has boosted their total income to the point where it is topped — among farm groups — only by families in the commercial-size farm class with annual sales of $10,000 and up. Even here, the margin shown for 1970 was small.

Change asked in policy

EMMETT, Idaho (UPI)—Rose Bowman, Democratic U.S. Senate candidate says that a major revision in federal farm policy must be accomplished in the next session of congress.

Mrs. Bowman told the Emmett Lions club Tuesday, "We've allowed corporation farms to come in and buy out many of the individual landowners. The result is that we keep piling more and more people into the cities and the agricultural areas are either over-producing or else being paid huge subsidies not to produce."

Races within races to decide 3 state crowns

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Sports Editor
BOISE — Saturday's three classification track and field meet will be a series of dozens of little races within races — and at times within races again.

From that will come the three team championships. It is the type of situation for Twin Falls against Borah and Boise; Wood River against Post Falls and Bear Lake, and Wendell against Highland of Craigmont and Homedale. It involves all the boys running, whether of first place potential or fifth.

Those teams have the most people qualified — although Lewiston will have the second most in the A-1 classification — and consequently they will be meeting in almost every race. Everyone will immediately know that, for instance, Twin Falls 440 and 880-yard relay teams will beat Borah and of Boise, or Alan Stevenson of Wendell beats Homedale's Wayne Alora in the sprints. But the divisions could be particularly tight enough that the halfmile of quartermile could swing it for Twin Falls. In the quarter, Alan Gibbs and Bruce Cooper will be going against Thompson of Boise and Allen of Borah. Those four, along with Hall of Moscow, look like the top five places.

The importance is that Twin Falls' two men finish ahead of the two Boise men — if they can't take first — because the displacement of each place point is a net two-point advantage. It comes down to no matter where you finish, first or fifth, finish ahead of that one member of the other contending team.

In the same vein, each of the contending teams looks for an individual or relay team from a non-contending school to help them by knocking down points.

The A-3 division appears the best bet for Magic Valley to mine gold medals. Stevenson, in the sprints and long jump, is a potential three-first man, and teammate Kip Dennis is too, in the hurdles and the 220-yard dash which would displace Stevenson but the point total would be the same.

Castleford sophomore Al Schultz had the best time in the quarter at 50.8 among district finalists — and he is classic to watch with a tremendous stride and fluid effort. McCalley, in the mile, and John Hunter, in the mile and two mile, give Gooding State a shot at two titles.

In the field events, Rod Adams is among four men in the 47-48-foot shotput area. John Flynn, Murtaugh, and Paul Shrum, Glens Ferry, will be in the thick of the discus battle and Wes Remaley of Kimberly and Stevenson have the two best marks among the long jumpers.

In the A-2 division, Rick Ward, Wood River Junior, could be the best bet for a double, particularly since this year the

A-1 and A-2 athletes doubling in the mile and two mile will have a night's rest. The longer event is slated for Friday afternoon.

Wood River has a top contender in three events in Kim Crofts, who faces eastern competition from Cleveland of Emmett and Bear Lake's Ken Parks in the timbers. Both have better high hurdle times.

In the 220-yard dash, Crofts will be fighting four men in the 22-flat area. Wood River's other first place hopefuls are Litzinger in the 880, he had the best district time, and perhaps Jimbo Hurst, a junior who made a personal best of 13-1 in the pole vault.

Buhl's mile relay team had the best in-state time last week and Gooding and Jerome could place well up in the 440 and 880-yard relays. The medley apparently is anyone's.

Nets don't figure Pacers' home advantage means much

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The Indiana Pacers and the New York Nets go at it again tonight in their American Basketball Association championship playoff series with each club trying to gain a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven competition.

The Pacers, winners of the Western Division playoffs, have the home court advantage for this, game No. 5, and for game No. 7 if it's necessary.

A victory by the Eastern Division winning Nets would send them back to New York and their home court for game No. 6, needing only one more victory for the title.

But the home court advantage may not be the key to victory, since each club has won once on the road in this series.

Momentum was a key to the Nets' victory Monday in New York, in the opinion of Pacer Coach Bobby Leonard. That triumph evened the series, 2-2.

"They took the momentum away from us at the start of the fourth period and we couldn't get it back," Leonard said. The Nets overcame a six-point deficit in the final stanza to pull out a 110-105 win.

"We played a fairly good game but some things just didn't go our way. We had a dead spot in the fourth quarter," Leonard said. But Leonard said he was content with a 1-1 split in New York where the Pacers won game No. 3 to take a brief, 2-1 lead in the series. "We are a little disappointed but we are certainly not dissatisfied," said Leonard. In addition to momentum, defense is another likely key to victory. Nets Coach Lou Varnesecca

Liquori out for season

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Marty Liquori, the top miler in the world last year, announced Wednesday after a consultation with Dr. Robert Kerlan, orthopedic specialist, that he would run no more this year.

Liquori is suffering from a torn muscle sheath in his left heel and had hoped to recover in time to try out for the 1972 Olympic games at Munich.

Dr. Kerlan said Liquori's foot would be placed in a cast for six weeks to immobilize it. If that fails to correct the condition, he said, surgery would be required.

"I had hoped to meet the Olympic qualifying standard here," said Liquori. "But in view of the medical opinion, I will not race any more this year. I don't know about the future beyond that."

Liquori flew here Tuesday to begin working for the Coliseum Classic June 9 and a possible meeting with Jim Ryun, world record holder in the mile.

Last year Liquori set a mark of 3:54.6 in the Martin Luther King Games at Philadelphia in which he beat Ryun. Liquori was undefeated in 12 races in 1971.

Mosley has second fastest Indy lap

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Mike Mosley posted the second fastest time turned in by a driver this month in practice Wednesday as he and 25 other drivers continued their search for speed as the last weekend of time trials for the May 27 Indianapolis "500" neared.

Mosley, of Clermont, Ind., clicked off a 192.202 miles-per-hour lap to sit in behind Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N. M., in the speed chase. Although he is not qualified, he doesn't have a chance at the pole spot.

Twenty-six cars took to the 2.12-mile oval Wednesday and eight topped 180 m.p.h., including four for the first time.

The day also was the last for rookies to complete their freshman driving tests and the list contained 13 names—three of whom have already qualified.

The most recent first-year entry approved by the U.S. Auto Club was Merle Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill. He is the brother of Gary Bettenhausen of Tinley Park and the son of the late Tony Bettenhausen.

Rookies already in the tentative field include Californians Sam Posey of San Juan Capistrano; John Martin of Long Beach and Swede, Savage of Santa Ana.

Other rookies getting approval for qualifying attempts included Tom Bigelow, White, Wis.; Lee Brayton, Coldwater, Mich.; Jim Caruthers, Anaheim, Calif.; Mike Hiss, Tustin, Calif.; Jerry Karl, Manchester, Pa.; Lee Kunzman, Guttenberg, Iowa; Al Laquasto, Eaton, Pa.; John Mahler, Bettendorf, Iowa, and Bill Simpson, Hermosa Beach, Calif.

Other non-qualified drivers picking up speed in the chase behind Mosley were three-time champion A.J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., at 188.845 m.p.h., Billy Vukovich of Fresno, Calif., 186.297, and Steve Kriszoff of Parsippany, N.J., 182.113.

Topping 180 for the first time were Mahler at 181.378; Dick Simon, Salt Lake City, 180.212; George Snider, Bakersfield, Calif., 180.796 in Foyt's backup car; and Roger McCluskey, Tucson, Ariz., 180.722.

Two qualified drivers were out in their backup cars.

Texas nips Royals 4-3 in 18 innings

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Catcher's interference, a throwing error and a fielder's choice in the 18th inning Wednesday night enabled Joe Lovitto to carry across the winning run that gave the Texas Rangers a 4-3 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

With one out in the 18th, Lovitto reached base when catcher Dennis Paepke interfered with his swing. Jim Panther bunted, but Kansas City pitcher Ted Abernathy threw the ball away, allowing Lovitto to move to third.

"Now Daddy is in full charge and we have to listen to him just like he was Mommy!"

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1972

CARROLL RICHTER'S horoscope

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to do everything possible to improve your surroundings and your appearance. As a result others will see your best points better and give you more support when you need it. Also, show special affection for those loyal to you. In return, it renews their devotion to you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Concentrate on how to please those who are important in your life and you will be rewarded. Work more on special talents you possess and much gain is yours. Show that you are capable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A good day to make repairs on property that will increase its value. A silly hangup you have is keeping you from advancing. Get rid of it. Show you are a person with great wisdom.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Improve on your daily routines, and then put up on your correspondence, both business and social. Put your talents to work where they will be most appreciated.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Become more involved in monetary matters and make them pay off. If you emulate one who has made a fortune it is possible for you to advance up the financial ladder.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use ingenuity in business activities and you can attain more success in the future. Also, look for new methods that are infinitely better than the old ones. A friend can be helpful to you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have hidden talents you seldom rely upon, and this is a good time to make big headway with them. Evening can be happy with the one you love. Stop being so reticent.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have good friends who can be helpful to you in making your projects more successful, so contact them early. Be sure to show your appreciation. Take time for social fun tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have many activities to engage in that will help you to improve your image where career is concerned. Be sure to pay an important bill. Show that you are a good citizen.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You now have time to engage in a new interest that fascinates you and with the prospect of financial success. Contacting an out-of-towner who is experienced in your field is wise.

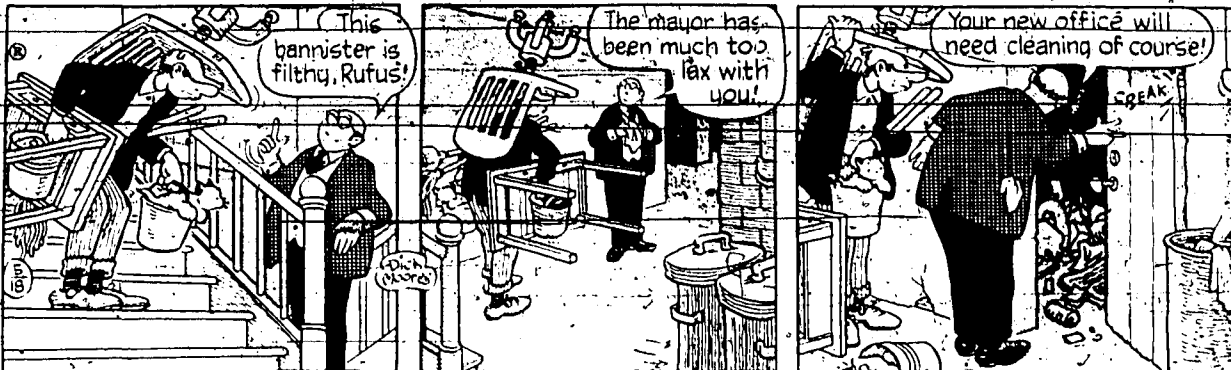

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Go to business experts for the advice and data you need. Follow through with their suggestions. Find the right way to have more understanding and love where mate is concerned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you go along with associates more you are able to reap mutual benefits and do so with ease. A civic matter should be handled today without further procrastination. Be wise.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Today you have to handle your work at the highest rate of precision if you wish to gain the approval of bigwigs. Co-workers can be cooperative if you state your ideas to them. Show thanks.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will do best work when complimented, but unfair criticism will cause your progeny to fly off the handle quickly. Any work connected with the public is fine here, where the acclaim of the masses will be very helpful. The married life is bound to be most successful because of the natural affection in this nature.

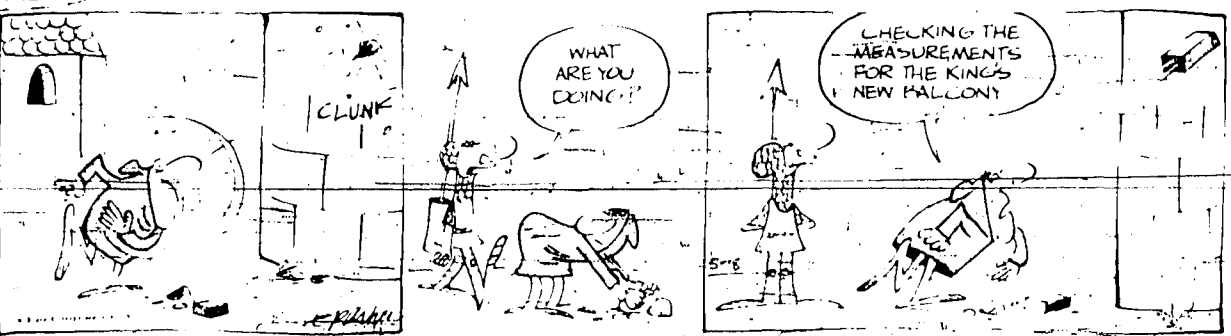

"The Stars impel" they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!"

A WOMAN'S weight is in his hips. A man's is in his chest. She's built for sitting still. He isn't. That's why she's far more likely than he to enjoy a symphony concert or a Broadway play or an opera. So claims a university scholar who has made a study of the matter. Such artistic appreciation, he says, owes not so much to the brain as to the center of gravity. Oh.

CONCE That the ice cream cone was invented by a Syrian concessionaire named W. M. Hamwi at the St. Louis Exposition in 1904 is common knowledge. Q. "YOU said Caesar Cardini, once of Tijuana, invented Caesar's salad. Where is he now?"

A. In Los Angeles, fast I heard. Manufacturing a dressing for said salad. Incidentally, an informant reports it was not Caesar but his older brother, Alexander, who actually created that famous salad. Who knows?

Debate seen over budget for health

TWIN FALLS — Another budget debate for the South Central Idaho Health District loomed today after a vote by board members for a $2.25 per capita assessment for 1973.

Meeting in Jerome Wednesday afternoon, the board members voted for a $2.25 assessment as the basis for the 1973 budget. William Chancy, chairman of the board and Twin Falls County commissioner, said this is the same amount approved for the 1972 budget which led to court action.

The Idaho Supreme Court has the matter under consideration with a decision anticipated in the near future as to whether the health district has the right to require a county to levy a certain amount or whether the county has the right to determine how much it should spend for public health.

As a result of the court action by Twin Falls County and the refusal to collect $2.25 per capita from taxpayers, the health district's budget committee cut the assessment to $1.66 per capita for 1972. Chancy said on a population basis, Twin Falls County pays a majority of the cost of all health services in the valley, but receives no more than any other county and in addition the city of Twin Falls pays for additional services required by the city because of its size.

The $2.25 per capita would require $104,500 from Twin Falls County annually, compared to about $52,000 budgeted for 1972 and $34,000 in 1971. This would represent nearly the full two mills allowed by State law, Chancy said.

In other business, the board voted to seek a small grant with which to study the needs for family planning programs in the district. Chancy said this is basically to determine if there is a need for such services and if it should be considered as part of the health services.

Tariff reduction negotiation slated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a bipartisan attempt to bolster President Nixon's bargaining position, Rep. William Moorhead, D-Pa., said today he was introducing legislation that would allow Nixon to negotiate a reciprocal reduction of tariffs with Russia.

Moorhead, chairman of the House foreign operations and government information subcommittee, said Nixon should have "concrete evidence of essential congressional support, if the normalization of trade relations" was to be part of the agreements reached at next week's Moscow summit meetings.

"The time has come to begin normalizing trade relations between the United States and Russia," said Moorhead in a speech prepared for the House.

Shooting wave in Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A soldier and a civilian were killed and 20 persons were wounded Wednesday in a wave of shooting and bombing attacks in Northern Ireland.

The soldier died when a sniper sprayed a group of British army engineers with machine gun fire as they stacked sandbags outside a police station in Crossmaglen, 44 miles southwest of Belfast near the Irish Republic border.

Another soldier was wounded in the attack, launched from a speeding auto.

The civilian, Bernard Moane, 46, a Roman Catholic father of six, was shot in the head and his body dumped in front of a war memorial in the seaside resort of Carrickfergus, 12 miles northeast of Belfast.

The killings brought to 329 the number of deaths in secular violence in the province since hostilities broke out nearly three years ago.

Private rites for TV actor

DE KALB, Tex. (UPI)—Television star Dan Blocker was buried Wednesday in a private ceremony guarded by state police.

"I once heard him say that the people who really deserved attention never got it," said Bennett Reed, a close friend from California. "He wondered why he could not walk down the street without being mobbed, while someone like Jonas Salk who discovered the polio vaccine would never be recognized."

Reed said Blocker was a "warm, articulate human being" who loved "Soledad Brother" George Jackson.

Prosecutor Albert W. Harris Jr. had concluded the state's case by reading from a "love diary" in which the 28-year-old former UCLA philosophy instructor wrote she was "totally intoxicated" with Jackson.

Miss Davis was charged with helping to plot and carry out an abortive attempt to kidnap a Marin County judge and court officials 17 months ago. Four persons, including the judge, Jackson's younger brother Jonathan and two convicts, died in the shooting that ensued.

Poland waits on new leader

Editor's Note: UPI's Chief European Diplomatic Correspondent K.C. Thaler is currently on a tour of Eastern European capitals. In this dispatch he discusses the efforts of Poland's new leadership to get the nation's economy moving.

By K. C. THALER
WARSAW (UPI) — Poland, which was shaken severely by the bloody workers' riots in the winter of 1970, has settled to a period of tolerant waiting, giving the new leadership of Edward Gierk a chance to prove it can do better than its predecessors under the ousted party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka.

The government has gone out of its way to make the waiting period more tolerable for the masses by freezing prices, raising wages and improving the once-critical food situation. It has set in motion various other processes in the economy to show it means business.

But the new regime has yet to prove it can revamp the stagnated economy, give it new incentives and lead to a better era soon.

Meantime, the Gierk regime, as one leading authority put it, is "drawing on the benefits of tolerance of the Polish masses."

Gierk, the only one among the ruling Communist leaders to have spent some 20 years in the West — in France and Belgium — is evidently anxious to speed reforms, many of them long overdue. But authorities in the know have made it very clear these reforms will stay strictly within the framework of basic Communist ideology and policy — a factor that has been vital in securing Russia's acceptance of the new Polish course.

Close relations with Russia, above all, will remain unchanged. The Kremlin appears to feel assured it need fear no new Czechoslovak type shock from the Gierk regime.

Gierk himself is described as a hard-core Communist, but realistic, flexible and anxious to get things moving without bulldozing his way to over-imaginative ventures beyond the basic framework of fundamental Communist principles.

The workers who rebelled more than a year ago appear to be giving him the benefit of the doubt. So far the intellectuals are keeping quiet, whether lying low or genuinely appeased remains an open question.

The defense needed a ruling today on motions to dismiss charges against black militant Angela Davis before beginning its defense of the avowed Communist who is accused of murder, kidnapping and conspiracy.

If Superior Court Judge Richard C. Arnason denies the requests for a mistrial, the defense will open its case. Speculation was high that Miss Davis would be among the early witnesses.

The motion for dismissal came Tuesday, one day after the prosecution rested its case on the strength of 95 witnesses and more than 200 exhibits presented in 26 trial days.

Arnason canceled trial proceedings Wednesday to ponder the dismissal motions. Attorney Leon Branton Jr., said the prosecution only proved Miss Davis was a "warm, articulate human being," who loved "Soledad Brother" George Jackson.

Prosecutor Albert W. Harris Jr. had concluded the state's case by reading from a "love diary" in which the 28-year-old former UCLA philosophy instructor wrote she was "totally intoxicated" with Jackson.

Censorship will evidently remain in force, but there are signs of flexibility. During the recent general election, Poles endorsed Gierk's program, but did not hesitate to register their criticism of slow progress. The government in turn for the first time in Communist planning history has pledged to review its revamped five year plan by the middle of next year to see whether changes may be required, thus abandoning the long standing principle of planning rigidity.

Just what the new plan will do and how it will do it remains to be seen. Prices are to be kept frozen, the rise of wages to continue and the consumer sector stepped up while the unrealistic price structure may be revised in an apparent effort to bring it more in line with western costing principles.

The Gierk regime has seemingly been able to loosen up some of the stifling bureaucracy of the past by purging party and administration. But in the middle layers the old guard is said to be still firmly entrenched from where it could apply effectively neutralizing brakes.
